INTRODUCTION

History. The Library of Congress issued printed cards for music scores in a limited number from the beginning of its card printing program. A more comprehensive cataloging program, expanded to include all types of music, began in 1943, and in 1953 the cataloging and printing of cards for sound recordings was started. The cards printed from 1948 to 1952 are included in the quinquennial cumulation of The Library of Congress Author Catalog 1948–1952. These cards, if they represent a publication issued from 1945 on, are also included in the quinquennial cumulation of the Library of Congress Catalog—Books: Subjects 1950–1954.

The Library of Congress catalogs in book form were reorganized in 1953. Since then the cards for music and phonorecords have been published as a special part of the comprehensive Library of Congress Catalogs, entitled Music and Phonorecords. This cumulation supersedes the four annual cumulations of the Library of Congress Catalog—Music and Phonorecords for 1953 to 1956, and the January—June 1957 semiannual issue. It is continued and kept current by semiannual issues and annual cumulations.

Purpose. Music and Phonorecords is designed to serve as a continuing and cumulative bibliography of works currently received by the Library of Congress and other American libraries participating in its cooperative cataloging program, insofar as these works are represented by Library of Congress printed cards. It therefore constitutes a reference and research tool for this type of material. It serves also, by indicating the LC card number, as a tool for the ordering of LC printed cards.

Scope. Music and Phonorecords contains entries for music scores in the broadest sense, i. e., music intended for performance. It includes, also, phonorecords, i.e., sound recordings, musical or nonmusical, reproduced on all kinds of material, including cylinders, discs, tape, and wire. The cataloging is selective. Music scores and phonodiscs are cataloged by the Library of Congress and other libraries participating in its cooperative cataloging program. Phonotape and phonowire recordings are cataloged by the Library of Congress; when such recordings are not in the collections of the Library, information needed for cataloging is supplied by the organizations or institutions holding these recordings.

Literature on music and other related materials, e.g., libretti and textbooks, are included in The National Union Catalog, a Cumulative Author List, and in the Library of Congress Catalog—Books: Subjects.

Form of Entries. The entries follow the A. L. A. Cataloging Rules for Author and Title Entries, the Rules for Descriptive Cataloging in the Library of Congress, and the Library's special rules for phonorecords. The main entries are reproduced from the type set for the catalog cards and include the tracing and the LC card number, and in the case of music scores the LC call number and the Dewey Decimal classification. When entries are prepared by other libraries they show the name of the contributing library. Cross references to authors' names or from alternative titles to entries under title are made whenever such references seem necessary. The arrangement is alphabetical with certain modifications as used in the filing of music in the Library of Congress. References are provided through added entries appropriate to the normal reference, bibliographic, and service requirements of a music and phonorecord collection; for example, from the names associated with the work, such as editors, joint authors, and, in the case of phonorecords, performers and performing groups.

In the issues published during the period 1953 through 1957 these added entries were the basis of a name index which has now been discontinued.

Subject Control. A subject index is provided, based on Subject Headings Used in the Dictionary Catalogs of the Library of Congress, its cumulative supplements and auxiliary lists, and on the subject authority cards filed in the Official Catalog of the Library of Congress. The principles employed in the construction and application of these headings are, in brief, the use of terms in common American usage as subject headings and the application of the most specific heading to the material entered.

References from terms which are not used to those which are used (see references) and references to more specific subjects or coordinate subjects representing other aspects or closely related matter (see also references) are included.

Asterisks are used in the index to indicate that the entry referred to is a phonorecord, or both a phonorecord and a music score.

Policy. Music and Phonorecords, a cooperative publication made possible only by the common interest of its subscribers and the Library of Congress in the development of tools for the aid of the researcher and the general public, will be kept responsive to the needs and suggestions of its users. A continuing effort will be made to cultivate its potentialities and usefulness within the limits of available means.

Inquiries. Music and Phonorecords 1953–1957 was compiled and edited by the Catalog Maintenance Division of the Library of Congress. Questions and suggestions of an editorial nature should be addressed to the Editor of Catalog Publications, Catalog Maintenance Division, Library of Congress, Washington 25, D. C. Orders and business matters should be addressed to J. W. Edwards, Publishers, Inc., Ann Arbor, Michigan.
